FIFTIETH BIRTHDAY OF "TOM" TAGGART

Noted Democratic Political Boss of Indiana Receives Many Congratulatory Messages.
Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 17.—A bushel of congratulatory messages were received today by "Tom" Taggart, chairman of the democratic national committee, on the occasion of his fiftieth birthday. Mr. Taggart was born in Waterford, Ireland, Nov. 17, 1856, and came to America with his father and mother when a small boy. He had to "get out and hustle" at an early age and he has been hustling ever since. His first employment was as a waiter in the eating-house attached to the old union railway station in this city. From that position he rose to become manager and later proprietor of the place. His political start dates from 1880, when he was elected auditor of Marion county, the first democrat elected to the position since the war. As county chairman he carried the county against Benjamin Harrison in 1888, despite the fact that this was Harrison's home county. This led to Taggart's appointment to chairmanship of the state committee and later to the chairmanship of the national committee. His rise in politics, and as it was, did not keep pace with his accumulation of wealth. The wealth of the "barefooted" emigrant, boy of forty years ago is now estimated at over a million.

CHASE HER SPOUSE FULLY 7,000 MILES

Roumanian Jewess Followed Husband From Buenos Ayres and Prosecutes Him For Bigamy.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Fitchburg, Mass., Nov. 17.—The case of Jacob Bloomberg, whose wife traveled 7,000 miles to find him and prosecute him for bigamy, was called for trial today. A score of years ago Bloomberg married a beautiful girl in Roumania. They emigrated to Buenos Ayres, where they lived a number of years. Six children were born to them. But after a time the woman's beauty faded and Bloomberg's business, that of a baker, did not pay. The man became discouraged. He talked the matter over with his wife and it was decided that he should come to New York. When he had secured a position he was to send for her and the children. The plan was carried out—up to the point where Bloomberg was to send for his family. He paid no attention to them after arriving in New York. Mrs. Bloomberg became tired of waiting, borrowed money and set sail for New York, leaving her children with neighbors, 7,000 miles behind her. When she reached the metropolis the Jewish societies aided her. They found that Bloomberg had married his boarding mistress after being in New York a short time. The wife traced the couple to Fitchburg. When she located him she first had her husband placed in jail and then hunted up a good lawyer to prosecute him.

Among the universities to be represented are Princeton, Yale, Wisconsin, Harvard, Cornell, California, Johns Hopkins, Michigan, Leland Stanford, Jr., Virginia, Pennsylvania, Chicago, and the Catholic University of America.
The event of the week in collegiate athletics will be the annual football game between the eleven of Yale and Harvard. The contest will take place on Saturday at New Haven and doubtless will attract the usual large number of alumni and other visitors from many states. Under the new rules neither team has this year made the showing of previous years and the result of the contest is problematical. A majority of the critics, however, appear to pick Yale to win.

HORSE WILL RULE NEW YORK ALL NEXT WEEK

The Annual Show In Madison Square Garden Opens Monday—Event Of Interest For All Classes Of People.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, Nov. 17.—With a blare of trumpets and a flutter of finery, the New York Horse Show, the event of the year for patrons of the horse in ring competition, and the first of public function of the season for fashionable society, will open Monday in Madison Square Garden. Through the week following the reign of the horse every indication the big annual exhibition will be much the same as in the twenty-one years of the show's earlier history, though the management is of the opinion that this year's show will beat the records in interest, exceeding it is thought, even the show of last year, which was the most brilliant one held in several seasons. Over $35,000 has been offered in cash prizes. Much interest is shown in the international prize of $500 for the best pair to a mail/demi-mall or Stanhope phaeton, for which event a number of entries have come from abroad. Other interesting classes include the one for the Waldorf Astoria Cup, which has been twice won by Judge William H. Moore, and one for the National Horse Show Gold Cup, which must be won twice before owned. The first year it was won by E. D. Jordan, of Boston, and last year by Herbert Moore.
The list of exhibitors announced includes about all the well-known names of exhibitors in other shows, and though the open-air exhibitions have grown in favor in the past few years have taken away something of the novelty by inducing the owners of the more prominent animals to show them before the fall season in New York opens society is none the less eager to see whether earlier decisions are verified, while the exhibition holds all of its old interest for the general public, whose patronage has made the fixture the great success it has been financially.
As in past years, the carriage and harness horses head the premium list, twenty-nine classes being devoted to these breeds. The special classes will command unusual attention, and will include army horses, suitable for chargers or officers' mounts and cavalry service. Liberal prizes have been offered for these classes. The Street Cleaning Department has again been recognized and special premiums have attracted a big entry list in other classes.
The primary object of the great show is and always has been the encouragement and breeding of all types used in life, from the great draught horse to the lady's pad, the thoroughbred to the Shetland. The saddle horse was never more in evidence than at the present time, and never were the claims of what might constitute one, in conformation or breeding, so universally sought. Hence the large saddle classes of the show will attract widespread attention. The hunters and jumpers are usually well represented, though the sensational high jumping is not the strong card it was in the past.
From the society point of view the show promises to be as successful as from the viewpoint of the horse lover, who attends the show to see the equines and cares little or nothing for the pretty faces, silks and feathers of the fair spectators. For weeks past society has been preparing for the six days' display. The capacities of the most exclusive tailoring and dress-making establishments have been taxed, and many thousands of dollars have been expended on sartorial creations that are calculated to make the "common people" stare in amazement as they walk about the tan-bark way and look up into the boxes or gaze down upon the "Four Hundred" from seats lofty perched in the topmost gallery of the big Garden—up where the band plays.

EDWARD W. LEROY MAY BE SPEAKER OF LEGISLATURE

Marinette Assemblyman Would Limit Session To One Hundred Days At The Most.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Nov. 17.—Edward W. Leroy of Marinette will be the next speaker of the Wisconsin assembly, and as such the most powerful member of the legislature, for he it is who makes up the personnel of all the committees of the lower branch of the legislature. He has the support of Governor Davidson, of State Chairman and Lieutenant Governor-elect Connor, and has so many assurances of support from members of the assembly that his election is looked upon as a certainty, notwithstanding the fact that claims are made that the "out and out" La Follette people will control the organization. These latter are supporting H. E. Ekern of Arcadia, one of the La Follette leaders of the last two legislative sessions and chairman of the committee on judiciary. Mr. Leroy has for two sessions been a faithful adherent to the measures proposed by the La Follette side, but is now friendly to Chairman Connor, who has fallen out with the junior senator. Mr. Leroy is making a campaign for the speakership by seeing the members-elect personally. He declares that there is no wisdom in keeping the members from their business and homes by prolonging the session until midwinter as the case has been recently, but will expedite legislation so that the session shall not last more than 100 days.

DAVIDSON WON WITH HANDSOME PLURALITY

Had Over Seventy Nine Thousand Votes Better Than Aiyward in Election.

Official returns of the recent election as sent to the secretary of state at Madison by the county clerks, show that Gov. Davidson was elected by the largest plurality ever given a Wisconsin candidate for governor in an "open" year. The plurality is 79,301.

Despite the opposition within his own party to W. D. Connor, republican candidate for lieutenant governor, his plurality is less than 9,000 lower than that of the head of the ticket. The smallest estimate that had been made of the probable cut by the opponents of Mr. Connor, before election, was 20,000, so his total vote was less than 9,000 smaller than that of Gov. Davidson.

Vote for Each Candidate.

The total vote for each of the various candidates is as follows:

FOR GOVERNOR.

Davidson	182,561
Aiyward	103,260
Gaylord	23,983
Easton	2,776

Plurality for Davidson, 79,301.

FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

Connor	175,702
Blenski	105,398
Kaufman	24,243
Fehlandt	9,045

Plurality for Connor, 70,304.

FOR SECRETARY OF STATE.

Frear	172,592
Noel	89,802
Schmidt	23,674
Clayton	5,033

Plurality for Frear, 72,789.

FOR STATE TREASURER.

Dahl	175,516
Jensen	100,010
Ammann	24,011
Emerson	7,941

Plurality for Dahl, 75,506.

FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Gilbert	179,605
Larch	99,358
Elsner	24,406
Van Keuren	7,963

Plurality for Gilbert, 80,247.

FOR INSURANCE COMMISSIONER.

Beedle	176,454
Biggs	99,732
Abraham	23,334
Abraham	7,832

Plurality for Beedle, 76,722.

The figures from which these totals are compiled are all official, with the exception of Milwaukee and Polk counties, where the canvass has not been completed, that of the former being unofficial and in the latter estimate. In addition, the canvass of the prohibitionist and "socialist" vote has not been completed in Green, Lincoln, and Waushara counties.

Gilbert Leads in Pluralities.

One of the surprises developed by the count is the fact that Gov. Davidson was led in the size of the plurality by his candidate for attorney general, Frank Gilbert of Madison, who received a plurality of 80,247, nearly 1,000 more than that given of "superior." The average republican plurality was in the neighborhood of 75,000.

The notable feature of the socialist vote was the manner in which it developed with comparative strength in counties where little was to be expected beyond the old party vote. Some of the "back woods" counties gave the socialist candidates many votes. On the other hand, some of the city districts, where the socialists have always been strong, did not show the usual strength, or at least not a gain proportionate with the party's growth in the state. Elsner was the leader on the social democratic ticket, receiving 24,406 votes. The socialist labor candidates were given only a scattering vote.

The comparative pluralities of Davidson and Connor in the 1906 election are an interesting comparison with the results in 1902 and 1904. In 1902, when La Follette had Davidson for his running mate, La Follette's plurality was 47,599 and Davidson's 95,756. In 1902 La Follette received 47,597 and Jesse Stone, his running mate, 59,322.

Causes of Insanity

In England, where everything that is excessive in a great civilization is to be found, mental alienation is frequent. Many special causes contribute to this, such as ill-assorted marriages, which engender hereditary insanity; hazardous and desperate speculations; the frequency of commercial crises; the increasing fluctuations of political life; the laziness peculiar to the rich; the abuse of fermented liquors; and, lastly, the immense number of religious sects.—London Hosp. pital.

Use of Languages

The most extensively spoken language is Chinese, but as there are so many dialects in the language and as these differ so greatly in the confines of Mongolia and Tibet from those around Peking, it is scarcely correct to say that the 382,000,000 Celestials all speak one language. Putting, therefore, China aside, the most spoken languages in the world are as follows, in millions: English, 120; German, 70; Russian, 68; Spanish, 44; Portuguese, 32.

Of Importance To Business Men

WE have purchased the Farmers' Sentinel of Milwaukee which for several years was the Wisconsin Agriculturist's only rival in this field.

Its 20,000 farm circulation has been combined with that of the Wisconsin Agriculturist. This enables us to guarantee to manufacturers and other advertisers a weekly circulation of 60,000 copies.

We can also guarantee that 90 per cent of this circulation is in Wisconsin, which affords an opportunity to reach all the farmers worth reaching in this rich and progressive state at a very small cost for the service rendered.

For a short time advertisers can make contracts by which they will get the circulation of both papers for the former price of one. Send for a sample copy of the Wisconsin Agriculturist and full particulars.

We have something of more than ordinary interest to offer.

The Roundup

By Willie West

Tells How Jake Schaefer Played a Cruel Joke.

I have seen many conflicting statements regarding the weight and measurements of Joe Gans, the champion light-weight, and to settle these controversies so far as our readers are concerned I append the "champs" correct "physical statistics." Of course the weight I give, 133 pounds, is the lightest weight at which he won the title. Gans' best fighting weight is 137 pounds, and when not in active training he averages about 145 pounds. Gans' measurements, etc., are as follows:

Ring-side weight..... 133 pounds
Height..... 5 feet 3 1/2 inches
Reach..... 5 feet 1 1/2 inches
Neck..... 14 1/2 inches
Chest (normal)..... 34 1/2 inches
Chest (expanded)..... 38 1/2 inches
Biceps..... 13 1/2 inches
Forearm..... 11 1/2 inches
Wrist..... 6 1/2 inches
Waist..... 24 1/2 inches
Thigh..... 20 1/2 inches
Calf..... 13 1/2 inches
Ankle..... 8 1/2 inches

Must, after I had won the billiard championship several years ago," said Jake Schaefer, the Chicago ex-champion, recently, "I stopped over at St. Louis on my way home. I called on a friend who kept a billiard room, and as I was tired he allowed me the use of his room to take a nap.

"While I was asleep a local billiard player came in looking for a game, but couldn't find a partner. The proprietor then woke me up and asked me to quietly slip into the billiard room and sit down. Nobody knew me by sight. I had been there about ten minutes when I was challenged for a game. I accepted and beat the fellow two points.

"Let's play another for the drinks," he said, and I accepted. Again I beat him a point or two, and he wanted to play for $5 this time. I accepted, of course, and again purposely beat him by a narrow margin.

"What is your name?" he asked. "You play a fair game of billiards."

"My name is Schaefer," I replied to see what he would say.

"Well, you have nothing on me," was his quick rejoinder. "My name is Schaefer."

"I then ran out the game, and when he found out that I was Schaefer he bought $10 worth of wine, and my friend who ran the billiard room lost a good customer. He never came back."

One of the oddest things that ever happened on a ball field took place on the west side grounds in Chicago in a game against New York years ago. Anson's men were playing the Giants, and the victory hung in the balance until in the ninth inning, with the score even, Bill Lange faced Jovett Meekin and rapped a certain double to center. There were two out, and the crowd rose with a yelp of delight when Lange smote the ball, which rolled past Van Haltren.

That ball rolled on and finally disappeared. Van Haltren was on top of it, but instead of picking it up he suddenly threw himself flat on the ground, rapped his right arm into the earth and commenced reaching. Lange meantime kept on. He turned second, raced on to third, gave a look outward and then sprinted for home, scoring the winning run.

The ball had rolled into a hole in the ground from which a post had been pulled that morning, and Van Haltren had been able only to reach it with the tips of his fingers. The next day the hole was filled in.

Mr. Yost of Michigan, the great and successful exponent of "straight" football, placed himself in the hands of a ligament immediately after reading the new rules and hopes to be docile enough soon to teach the game as she is to be played.

The man who has an end in view naturally sees his finish. W. WEST.

Dramatic Notes.

Thomas Jefferson recently made his first appearance in Chicago as a star, presenting "Rip Van Winkle." Next fall he will add the role of Caleb Plummer in "The Cricket on the Hearth" to his repertoire.

When Tragedian John Griffith plays in New York later in the season he will be seen for the first time as Richard III. and Macbeth.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT

In 1864 the Department of Agriculture introduced from China and France, a small amount of sorghum at a cost of $2,000.

From this small beginning has developed a great agricultural industry, for now a considerable part of the molasses consumed in the United States comes from this outlay of $2,000, and the annual value of the sorghum crop is about $40,000,000.

This is one of the things accomplished by the Department of Agriculture, and there are others. It is worth something to the people to be placed in position to produce forty million dollars a year, and any department of government entitled to the credit is worthy of commendation and support.

The corn crop this year is represented by 95 million acres, and the average yield is placed at 30 bushels. What the crop is worth in round dollars can be determined by Skidoo enthusiasts with no uncertainty as to results.

Twelve million bales of cotton enrich the southern states to the extent of $500,000,000, while the wheat crop, scattered over a larger territory, climbs away beyond that figure.

The wealth of the United States today is $115,000,000,000 and is increasing at the rate of five billions a year. This increase is the net result after all expenses are paid, and means permanent value, unless weakened by untoward conditions.

These figures, gathered from the census bureau and other reliable sources, are so fabulous that they seem visionary, and difficult to comprehend. Yet the nation is forging to the front with such rapid stride that great results develop in quick succession.

The wealth of the nation is a sort of intangible thing, and frequently confusing. Men discuss the financial responsibility of the government, and the wonderful credit enjoyed, as though the organized government, in itself, possessed great wealth, when the fact is that aside from a few battleships and navy yards and a handful of public buildings, the government owns nothing in the way of property, except its balance in the treasury, and this is held in trust for the people.

What then makes the nation financially strong? Simply this: the wealth of the people, so evenly distributed that 43 per cent of the voters are real estate owners. This is the collateral security behind the best government that ever existed, and combined with this is an asset known as honor and patriotism, which has honored every draft ever presented. A good deal is said nowadays about great fortunes in the hands of a few individuals, and men like Rockefeller, Carnegie, Morgan and half a dozen others are cited and discussed as a menace to the nation.

Blind hatred is so intense that the notion is quite popular that the property of these men should be confiscated and distributed among the people. The man who has the temerity to say a good word for one of these magnates is supposed to be a paid tool, who sold his birthright for a mess of pottage.

Secretary Shaw was riding through Virginia, the other day, when his attention was called to a farm house at the roadside. His companion said, "Do you notice that well at the back of the house?" The secretary said, "Yes; there seems to be a pump at work."

"That's just what it is," was the reply. "That pump has been working regularly for ten years; and the farmer has been watching the meter and collecting fifteen dollars a day ever since Rockefeller came through here with his pipe line."

"Well," said Mr. Shaw, "that's a side of Rockefeller that people don't often think about," and the secretary was right. There are many states besides Virginia where oil farmers are watching the meter and collecting royalty, to say nothing about the army of 100,000 men who are employed by the oil king.

another side to the question that is also worth considering.

It requires brain ability and money to develop the resources of a country; a triple combination which but few men possess in large degree. When combined with this is an ambition to invest every talent to the limit, for the pure love of the work, you have a Rockefeller.

Suppose this class of men were satisfied to stop on a million and retire to private life, what would happen? Other things would stop, about the same time, and the great enterprises which are pushed to successful issue, carrying with them employment for the masses, and helping to scatter prosperity in every nook and corner, would suspend and die for lack of support.

What does the wealth of a few men amount to anyway, as compared to the wealth of the people? Suppose the little bunch is worth a billion, we could buy them out before breakfast a hundred times and have fourteen billion left for a picnic, or we could pay them off with this year's corn crop, and have a balance large enough for several Thanksgiving dinners.

It is a mistaken notion to think that the wealth of the nation is in the hands of a few people. It is distributed among the producers, and among the people who possess thrift and economy in any and every calling.

Why there should be unrest and discontent among this class of people is a problem which no man attempts to solve.

That these conditions should exist in organized labor circles is not difficult to understand, but they represent but two million out of thirty million wage-earners. They are not taxpayers to any great extent, and ambition is realized when a short workday is secured.

Deprive a man of the incentive to better his condition through intelligent and well-directed energy, and you produce a machine, and this is what organized labor is producing today. Good machines do good work, but the action is automatic, and the outlook for an automation is never flattering.

There are two other classes which contribute to the spirit of unrest and discontent. One, the men who never have a dollar, and whose expenditures represent their income, and all the credit they are able to establish. These men envy the man of thrift and economy, his possessions, and soon come to believe that "God's patient poor" are oppressed.

The other is found in the nation's adopted children that come to us from all parts of the world at the rate of a million a year. Many of these people, in time, become good citizens, but some of them are slow to assimilate American ideas, and their time is spent in sowing the seeds of anarchy and socialism.

Hovering over this mixed multitude of malcontents, like a brood of black ravens, is a little coterie of intellectual pirates, who devote talent and energy to ignorance and prejudice, in stirring up class distinction and class hatred.

These are the yellow leaders of a yellow constituency, more numerous and more pronounced today than at any time in the history of the country.

America, the fairest nation that ever blessed humanity, is entitled to better treatment than she receives from many of her citizens.

Rich in the material things of life, and rich in opportunities, a field of black diamonds may be discovered in every doorway, by well directed search and untiring energy.

The nation says to her army of school children, "Lay the foundation well, and then draw on me for anything you want."

To her young men and women, standing on the threshold of activity, eager for the fray, "Choose wisely, invest talent freely, be loyal to yourself and humanity, and reward in liberal measure is assured."

To the men and women in the thick of the strife, "Be honest and valiant, and out of the conflict, tested and approved, you shall find a destiny with a diadem, and in the afterglow, as the years chase each other down the shady slope, the choice inheritance of true man and womanhood, will be yours to enjoy."

This is God's country, and the new century is a veritable paradise, to any man who will open his eyes to its unfolding beauties, and draw on its rich storehouses of wealth and opportunity.

The individual is the unit of the nation, and the great volume of wealth, whether in property or character, is the heritage of the unit. Every man may possess the latter, and a goodly degree of the former, if he will.

Less talk and more work, less complaining and more appreciation, less dissipation and more patriotism, will add to happiness and content.

Wisconsin railroads pay into the state treasury $2,000,000 under the ad valorem system. This is four per cent of all the railway taxes paid in the United States, and indicates that the Badger state is receiving her full quota on a mileage of less than three and one-half per cent.

BATTLE TODAY TO MAINTAIN RECORD

High School Team Endeavoring to Shut Out Lake Mills at Athletic Park.

If the Janesville high school football team can prevent the Lake Mills high school eleven from making a touchdown in the game at Athletic Park this afternoon, she will go to Fort Atkinson with a record of not having her goal line crossed this season. Fort Atkinson has not been defeated, but tied Sacred Heart college of Watertown last Saturday and has been scored on. Janesville has shut out all scores, but a drop kick in the contest at Monroe last Saturday.

The Lake Mills boys arrived at noon today and thought they were compelled to have a late dinner the game was called shortly after half past two o'clock. Doane Wright, the local crack halfback, is on the sidelines. He will not go into the play unless needed, as Coach Hamerson fears his elbow might be injured again and as a result he would be incapacitated for the Fort Atkinson game. The forward line is composed as follows: C. Boyd and Howard, rg. Church, lt. Cassidy (Capt.), rg. Langdon (held captain), lg. Woodworth, lt. Herliem, lg. Connors, and Cunningham, rg. Horky, lg. Jensen, lb. F. Nuzum, qb. C. Wright and J. Nuzum.

NEW HONORS FOR W. J. HAMILTON

Former Janesville Man Appointed Chairman of the Board of Inspectors of Oshkosh Normal.

Prof. William J. Hamilton, son of Mrs. D. M. Barless of this city and a graduate of the Janesville High school and Milwaukee Normal, has been appointed chairman of the board of inspectors of the state normal school at Oshkosh. This indication of his high standing in educational circles in the state is very gratifying to his friends and relatives. He is also listed among the speakers at the annual meeting of the State Teachers' Association in Milwaukee during the latter part of the month. The subject of "The Strength and Weakness of the Graded School Graduate from the Standpoint of a High School Principal," Prof. Hamilton is at present superintendent of the New London schools and principal of the High school of that city.

HAND CAUGHT IN DEADLY SHREDDER

Alex Hamilton Sustained Serious and Excruciating Painful Injuries This Morning.

Alexander Hamilton met with a terrible accident on his farm on the middle road, west of the city, about eleven o'clock this morning. The corn shredder he was feeding would not respond to the lever throwing it out of gear when tested early this morning but worked alright otherwise and consequently, when he thrust his gloved left hand into the hopper to seize a bundle that had not been properly unbound and his fingers were caught by the rollers. He had no way of releasing himself. The hand had been drawn in as far as the base of the thumb and the fingers were just commencing to feel the middle finger when John Crow, who had heard his cries reached and stopped the engine. After that it was necessary to take a wrench and remove the rolls before the hand, mangled to a pulp and with every finger bone broken, could be released. Mr. Crow also did this while four or six of the helpers, frightened out of their wits, looked on without making an effort to assist. Suffering excruciating pain, Mr. Hamilton was brought to the city and Dr. E. P. Woods, assisted by Dr. P. B. Farnsworth, attended him. As the large arteries were not torn they decided not to amputate, and the hand will be saved, though the victim will regain his use of it only in a measure.

FOUR CHANGES IN C. & M. W. DIVISION SUPERINTENDENTS

P. J. O'Brien Transferred to Madison Division and Frank Hammel Takes His Place on North Wisconsin.

The promotion of S. M. Braden from the position of superintendent of the Galena division of the C. & M. W. railroad to the position of general superintendent west of the Missouri river, has resulted in the following changes: W. D. Beck, who has been superintendent of the Madison division, takes Braden's old place at the head of the Galena division. He passed through here this morning. P. J. O'Brien, who has been superintendent of the North Wisconsin division, takes Beck's place at the head of the Madison division, with headquarters at Baraboo. Frank H. Hammel, who has been at the head of one of the northern Iowa divisions with headquarters at Sioux City, takes the superintendency of the North Wisconsin division with headquarters at Fond du Lac. The changes in no way affect Frank Pechin, superintendent of the Wisconsin division.

JUDGE GEO. GRIMM PRINCIPAL SPEAKER

At the "Stiftungs Fest" Held by Bower City Verein at West Side Hall Last Evening.

Judge George Grimm, of Jefferson was the speaker of the evening at the "Stiftungs Fest" given under the auspices of Bower City Verein No. 31, G. U. G., at West Side Odd Fellows' hall last evening. He delivered a very interesting and helpful address on mutual benefit insurance and its relation to such orders, as the one, he was addressing, enlarging upon its blessings and cautioning against dissensions and discord in the ranks, which was one of its greatest dangers. Whether Prussians, Saxons, Saxons, or Bavarians his hearers showed a remembrance that they were all Germans and one man of the nationalities was not only no better than another but he was also no better than the old stock American or the Scandinavian. The decadence of the German language in this country was inevitable but the finer qualities of German character should and would be grafted upon the American individuality and would not be lost.

Allusion to Circuit Judgeship.

Alluding to his forthcoming succession to Judge Dunwiddie on the circuit bench, he said that his statement of principles made during the campaign was not idle talk; that it would be his aim and effort to be just and upright and to love his fellow-men. The charges that he would take all the legal business to Jefferson county was without foundation. The work in every instance would be done in the county where it originated, so far as possible, and because the preponderance of it centered in Janesville, the speaker expected that in the future he would be with his hearers a large portion of the time.

Other Features of Program.

The program was interspersed with several musical numbers by the Mozart singing society, led by Prof. W. F. Thiele, which pleased immensely, and Anton Hanauka rendered a tenor solo in a very enjoyable manner and responded to an enthusiastic encore. Refreshments were served and the festivities closed with dancing to the strains of Reinhold's orchestra. George Kispert, cashier of the Farmers' & Merchants' bank at Jefferson, was another of the out-of-town guests of the G. U. G.

"The House That Good Clothes Built"

J. L. FORD & SON

A Sale Demonstration that proves our unapproachable leadership in low price values as well as in High Grade Men's Wearing Apparel.--A Clothing Sale of the utmost interest to all men.

The sale which we instituted on November 1st was started for the purpose of exemplifying in a marked degree our ability to supply the needs of men who do not feel able to put much money into a suit or overcoat. That it may be broader in its scope we have included our entire stock now in the store, making a sweeping, emphatic reduction affecting every last garment in the house. The man who wants to pay from $5 to $10 for a suit or overcoat, who feels that he cannot afford more, knows by bitter experience that the average garment that he can get for his price is not dependable. He wants and hopes to get quality rather than style. It is for this reason that we have made the exceptional cut on goods which we have had in the house for one or two seasons. These goods, of splendid quality in materials and workmanship, have been divided into three distinct classes—$5, $7.50 and $9.50—and every one of them was made to sell at double the price or more. You can appreciate this after a five minute inspection of the various lots. They are splendid fitting, from makers that you know, and garments that are worth up to $20 for a suit or overcoat.

That we may not be charged with discrimination, we have made similar reductions, if not quite as great, on our newest present season styles. You will find all the newest patterns and fabrics in the swellest designs materially reduced. Your special attention is called to these bargains, for, as experienced clothing men, we know that they are very rare indeed for such values as we offer at these prices.

Suits & Overcoats That Are Now Selling at 1-2 Their Real Value

All wool, well made, guaranteed Suits and Overcoats, made from beautiful worsteds, cassimeres, Scotch cloths, &c., but only one or two left of a lot, divided into three great lots of merchandise—over 500 to select from—all sizes, from 15 years to 42 breast—

Before The Footlights.

Manager Myers has concluded arrangements with the Standard Opera Co. management to have Leader Rudolph Berliner and his orchestra and the soloists appear in a concert at the local theatre on Monday evening, Nov. 26.

Geo. M. Cohan's musical success, "Little Johnny Jones," was presented at Myers theatre this afternoon, and will appear again tonight. While Mr. Cohan is still a little more than 28 years of age he has accomplished some very big things. Mr. Cohan has been on the stage since he was a lad, in fact he may be said to have been almost born in the theatre, as his father and mother have been actors all their lives. George first appeared as a child wonder, playing the violin, his father being a famous dancer he began to teach his son the various steps that were popular at that time. Cohan, Jr., was an apt pupil and soon became a great favorite with the public. When he was about 15 years of age Mr. Cohan began to write little sketches and playlets in which his fa-theatre, Nov. 18th, will be the always pleasing Kindred show with an entire program of new and brilliant moving pictures, vaudeville and drama. Considering the fact that moving picture films nowadays embrace all forms of entertainments including reproduction of all kinds of stunts seen in the ordinary vaudeville theatre, as well as in which regular acting stock companies are engaged in producing for the motion picture machine, such a combination as the Kindred show which exhibits the very best class of this kind of pictures in the very best manner, can rightfully herald their coming to any city as a show producing motion picture vaudeville and drama, hence the adopted style of advertising for the coming Kindred show which will be found highly entertaining, light and pleasing in its mode of amusement with scenic presentations interspersed throughout of an instructive and educational nature that makes an audience appreciative of the fact that the cost of admission has gained for them ready to cover all bets made by the rival companies. Hopper claimed the others had not a chance on earth as it was possible to disconcert Miss Clark, who has an enviable reputation for cool-headedness at a critical moment. The members of Hopper's company all bets that were offered. Every member of the large company was loyal to their star and their charming and undaunted ingenuity who is the personification of courage. Mr. Archie Bell, the well known critic of the Cleveland News, consented to act as referee and there would have been some interesting happenings in Cleveland when they attempted to beat Miss Clark if the race had taken place. Miss Clark's manager, Lee Shubert, in learning of the proposed race, forbade her taking part, as he did not relish the idea of his brilliant little actress exposing herself to any danger.

What Do They Cure?

The above question is often asked concerning Dr. Pierce's two leading medicines, "Golden Medical Discovery" and "Favorite Prescription." "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most potent alterative or blood-purifier, and tonic or invigorator, and acts especially favorably in a curative way upon all the mucous lining surfaces, as of the nasal, laryngeal, bronchial tubes, stomach, bowels, and bladder, curing a large per cent. of catarrhal cases whether the disease affects the nasal passages, the throat, larynx, bronchus, stomach (as catarrh dyspepsia), bowels (as mucous colitis), bladder, uterus or other parts of the organs. Even in the chronic or incurable stages of these affections it is often successful in effecting a cure.

"The Favorite Prescription" is advised by physicians as one of the best remedies for the various diseases, disorders and irregularities incident to women only. It is a powerful yet gently acting invigorating tonic and nerve. For weak women, over-worked women, no matter what causes the breakdown, "Favorite Prescription" will be found most effective in building up the strength, regulating the womanly functions, subduing pain and bringing about a permanent, vigorous condition of the whole system.

A book of particulars wraps each bottle giving the formulae of both medicines and quoting what scores of eminent medical authors, whose works are consulted by physicians of all the schools, say of practice as to the value of these medicines.

The words of praise bestowed on the several ingredients entering into Doctor Pierce's medicines by the writers of such non-professional testimonials, because such men are writing for the guidance of their medical brethren and know whereof they speak.

Both medicines are non-alcoholic, non-secret, and contain no harmful habit-forming drugs, being composed of glyceric extracts of the roots of native American medicinal forest plants. They are both sold by dealers in medicines, and are also sold by mail as a substitute for one of these medicines of known composition, any secret nostrum.

LOTTIE MEDLEY, HEREIN "LITTLE JOHNNY JONES" THIS EVENING

more than ordinary pastime and merriment. Their mother, sister and himself, appeared with much success. Their fame grew and they became headliners in vaudeville. He wrote a little sketch called "The Governor's Son" and it met with instant success, so much so that he determined to elaborate on it and make it a full fledged play, which he did and the "Four Cohans" began their real stellar career.

His next play was called "Running for Office" this too was a success and served him as a vehicle for two successive seasons. Two years ago the 15th of last October he completed and produced his present phenomenal hit, "Little Johnny Jones," all this time he has been playing in popular priced houses and he went into Chicago with "Little Johnny Jones," playing the Great Northern theatre.

His success was immediate and positive. So much so that his manager, Sam H. Harris, insisted that he should go into the high class theatres and he was booked at the Illinois theatre, only four blocks away from the Great Northern, where the prices ranged from fifty cents to two dollars, and it is now a matter of theatrical history that this engagement lasted six weeks, during which time the capacity was tested at every performance.

Going from Chicago to New York he opened at the Liberty theatre and again scored. In the next few months he was in and out of New York in the "big time" the "Johnny Jones" theatre, being a "big time" theatre, his success was immediate and positive. So much so that his manager, Sam H. Harris, insisted that he should go into the high class theatres and he was booked at the Illinois theatre, only four blocks away from the Great Northern, where the prices ranged from fifty cents to two dollars, and it is now a matter of theatrical history that this engagement lasted six weeks, during which time the capacity was tested at every performance.

George M. Cohan is not an indelible "work" erratic would more nearly describe his method. He cannot write under pressure, but on the contrary must be in the mood. At these times he will scribble his ideas on the back of a bill of fare, if he happens to be in a cafe, or on an envelope, if he is in an hotel lobby, the blank space of a program, or any odd bit of paper that comes to his hand when an idea strikes him, but when once he gets the idea he works very rapidly.

Mr. Cohan is a young man that does not dissipate to any great extent. He is happily married to Miss Ethel Levey, who is one of his principal support, and they have a daughter, the daughter, Georgia Teller Cohan, now six years of age, who, it goes without saying, they worship.

The Sunday attraction at Myers

A merry theatrical war was recently carried on in Cleveland, the principal factors in the good natured controversy being De Wolf Hopper, Marguerite Clark and two rival stars. Mr. Hopper is the possessor of a fine new automobile—a white steamer which has developed a speed of nearly seventy miles an hour. Up to the present time Mr. Hopper has not been beaten in any speed contests and he seems to consider that his machine is without an equal. In any event, when any one says anything not entirely complimentary about his car they arouse both the ire and the sporting blood of the comedian.

Hopper was appearing at the Colonial theatre in "Happyland" and "Wang Wang." A rival attraction was "The Vanderbilt Cup" in which both Barney Oldfield and Eddie Bald are appearing with their big racing cars. The press representative of this attraction claimed these machines capable of ninety miles an hour and of being the peer of any automobile in Ohio. Hopper took exception to this remark and he promptly issued a challenge to anyone in Cleveland—his challenge, being directed at Oldfield and Bald in particular. Bald wanted to accept but was persuaded by Oldfield not to do so. He claimed it would be unfair to pit two professional racers against an amateur.

Again Hopper took exceptions to the claims of the opposing parties. He claimed it was not a question of superior driving ability, but of the superiority of the machines. Then he issued another challenge—this time to the effect that his leading lady, Marguerite Clark, who is a particularly capable and fearless chauffeur, would race Elsie Bald, the star of "The Vanderbilt Cup" who has become very proficient in handling a car under the tuition of Oldfield. This challenge was eagerly accepted and the facts were made public.

It was then that a third party got into the battle. Eva Tanguay, who was also playing Cleveland, is an old schoolmate of Bald's. She is also a staunch admirer of his ability as well as a firm believer in his machine. Miss Tanguay was perhaps as reckless a driver as ever handled a car; nevertheless Bald readily consented to her using his machine. Then she issued a challenge to Miss Clark and Miss Janis, which was eagerly accepted.

The race was to be for ten miles and Hopper placed two one-hundred-dollar bets—one hundred each with the owners of the rival cars and said

STATUS OF THE JAP SITUATION

REVIEW OF RACE'S CONDITION ON PACIFIC COAST.

SOLUTION STILL A PROBLEM

Exclusion of Mikado's Subjects from Schools May Result Badly for United States.

(By William Wolff Smith.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16. (Special Correspondence.)—The California-Japanese situation still continues to be a topic of absorbing interest in departmental circles, and is discussed in all its phases, although members of the cabinet refrain from taking any part in this open discussion. It is well known, however, that every member of the cabinet is strongly opposed to any attempt to exclude the Japs from the country, and it is believed that the President will take stand in this message to congress.

The attitude of the people of California is very pronounced on the subject, but it is more than possible they are unduly alarmed. There never has been a rush of immigrants from Japan to this country, such as was witnessed a score or more years ago from China, and there has been no coolie system among them. According to the report of the census bureau, in 1900 there were only about 40,000 Japanese in the Pacific coast states, and of these about 10,000 were in California. There has, at no time, since 1900 been any very large immigration of those people, the number this year, according to Commissioner-General Sargent, being less than 15,000, and of these only about 8,000 came from Japan direct, the others having come to the Pacific states from Hawaii. Mr. Sargent says there is no reason to believe that at any time in the very near future there is likely to be any great influx of immigrants from Japan.

He points out, however, that in case of war between the two countries, the Japs in Hawaii would be a source of great trouble, as they number more than 60,000, all intelligent, loyal subjects of the island emperor.

Treaty Rights Ignored

Secretary Root holds that the exclusion of the Japanese children from the schools of San Francisco is in contravention of treaty rights, and although he has not openly expressed himself, there is no doubt he regards the situation as being a very grave one, even though it should not result in war between the two countries.

American interests in Japan are very large, and a law excluding the Japanese territory of all Americans, and a severance of all commercial relations. This would be a real blow to American trade in the far east. In this connection it is intimated that China is growing stronger and making such advances under Japanese tutelage that it is not without the range of probabilities she will, sooner or later, retaliate for our unfriendly methods. Should such a condition arise, the Philippines and even the Hawaiian islands would no longer be of any use to us, for we would have no trade in the Orient, and having no trade would have no merchant marine on the Pacific.

Greater Military Strength

The closing session of the 59th will have its hands full in perfecting legislation already on the books, but it is thought will give much attention to the great question of making our coast defenses more secure, and in finding some way to strengthen very greatly our navy, both in ships and in men. Only a start, however, can be made in these directions this winter, and the subject, as a whole, will be turned over to its successor. The present unsettled condition of affairs with Japan will also strengthen the effort to revive our merchant marine, for it is from the merchant marine the country must recruit its navy should war come. The advocates of this measure feel strongly in hopes the bill that passed the senate at the last session will be taken up and promptly passed by the house. Another important question that will be passed over to the 60th congress is that of improving our inland waterways so urgently demanded throughout the west. This subject will be pushed with a good deal of vigor from now on.

Garfield to Clean House

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

Few People Know How Useful It is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Costs Nothing To Try.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purposes.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a "drug" at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking, or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectively cleans and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of carthar.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best and most effective is the "Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges," which are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form, or rather in the form of a large, pleasant-tasting lozenge, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon lead to a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath, and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician, in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, to clean the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat. I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in a sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

Hitchcock Visit Fruitless

The cabinet is looked for with a good deal of anxiety, although it is practically known his journey has been fruitless, of good results, so far as settling the differences at San Francisco. The school fund of California and San Francisco being a state and municipal matter entirely, it is hard to see just how, even with the treaty, the general government can insist the school doors shall be opened to anybody. That difficulty, however, might be bridged over, but the feeling has grown so intense on the Pacific coast that an attempt will be made by the California congressional delegation to secure the passage of a law of exclusion. With the present attitude of the general government it is impossible to expect such a law, it is believed here, for the President would surely veto it, if it came over his veto, but the very attempt will aggravate the Japanese government. So, under the most favorable conditions the situation is one of great gravity. With any one of the European governments the matter could be settled by diplomacy, but not so with the Japanese.

Speaker May Have Trouble

Now that the election is over, and a very decided republican majority assured, the politicians here are turning their attention to figuring out in advance what the 60th congress will do when it gets into business. The republican majority looks large enough for all practical purposes, party and legislative, but the trouble will be to keep the majority members in line. During the last session on several occasions quite a number kicked over the traces, and once or twice it looked for a time as if the speaker would be "downed" in some of his attempts to rule legislation according to his own "sweet will." The great majority of his party, however, enabled him to hold enough in check to carry out his purposes, but now that the majority has been reduced he will have harder sledding should any great difference arise. There are always a number of absentees, and it may happen that a time will come when even recalcitrants will join hands with the democrats to defeat some pet object of the speaker.

Special Tariff Session

Since the election several of the old members have declared themselves in favor of tariff revision, and that will be one of the knotty problems for the 60th congress to settle. Senator Culion has put himself on record in this direction, holding that the revision should be done at a special session called for that purpose, and President Roosevelt is known to be enough of a revisionist to call such a session. It is hardly probable any attempt at revision will be made at the coming short session. The reform of the currency is another knotty problem the 60th will have to tackle.

The closing session of the 59th will have its hands full in perfecting legislation already on the books, but it is thought will give much attention to the great question of making our coast defenses more secure, and in finding some way to strengthen very greatly our navy, both in ships and in men. Only a start, however, can be made in these directions this winter, and the subject, as a whole, will be turned over to its successor. HEADQUARTERS OF TOBACCO GROWERS

National Association Locates in Owensboro, Kentucky, Moving from Indianapolis.

Owensboro, Ky., Nov. 16.—The headquarters of the National Tobacco Growers' association have been established in this city, with Secretary E. H. Taylor in charge. The principal reason for the change from Indianapolis, Indiana, is that Owensboro is the center of one of the principal tobacco growing sections, while Indianapolis is "entirely out of the tobacco belt." It is pointed out that the work has heretofore been handicapped to some extent by reason of the officers being so far from the base of operations. The tobacco growers of this section are pleased at this action. Clarksville, Tenn., and Lynchburg, Va., both centers of the tobacco growing sections, were candidates for the headquarters, but one is out of the territory of the American Society of Equity and the other too far removed from the larger Kentucky and Tennessee fields.

Spelling Reformers Split

A good deal of quiet amusement is indulged in here at the splitting among the advocates of reformed spelling. From the very beginning no one here has been taken to it. If the President had been taken to it, the officials of the executive and administrative departments have followed the instructions of the President, but have always smiled very broadly when the matter has been mentioned. Everybody is waiting to see what action will be taken by congress.

No More Cabinet Changes

It is said that the President has now assembled a cabinet to suit himself, and that there will be no more changes during the remainder of his term. Mr. Roosevelt stands as the "boss" cabinet maker of the president. In other terms many changes have not occurred except where there had been break-ups caused by differences between the members of the cabinet, and their chief, such as took place under Jackson, Tyler and Buchanan, but in the case of Mr. Roosevelt there has been no break-up, nor so far as the public knows, has there been any serious differences. Harmony has been maintained at all times, and much of the success that has attended the administration is due to this fact.

I have been doing street car work on the D. & L. line for thirty-two years and can say that for at least sixteen years I have suffered from stomach, liver and bowel troubles. My appetite and digestion were poor and constipation was chronic. I had frequent headaches and always felt tired and worn out. I heard of many fellow workers who were similarly affected, but nothing seemed to have the desired effect until I heard of Cooper's New Discovery, and began its use. After I had finished one bottle I was wonderfully improved. Constipation gave way to a pleasing regularity of the bowels and I ate better, slept better and felt better than I had for months. It is the greatest medicine I have ever known.

Cooper's New Discovery cures stomach and kidney troubles, catarrh, rheumatism and blood diseases. It sells for one dollar per bottle. Cooper's Quick Relief Lintment, the assistant remedy, costs fifty cents. They are sold only by E. B. Heimstreet.
